The objective of this session is to provide the student with the basic understanding of the concepts and principles of property valuation and fundamentals of appraisal as they relate to ad valorem tax disputes. Participants gain limited exposure to valuation methodology. Students should be able to differentiate between flawed and sound appraisals based on knowledge of valuation principles. Included is a discussion of all three approaches to value: Sales Comparison (market), Cost, and Income. First, we begin with an explanation of the context of property valuation and concepts important for property tax practice, including: The elements of the appraisal process and the elements of an appraisal report.

At the conclusion of the three presentations, the participants will be able to:

- Understand and define real estate concepts and terms such as real property, fee simple, situs, leasehold estate, and market value.

Purpose of the Property Tax School:

The school is recommended for individuals with less than five years of experience in the field and little or no exposure to appraisal training.

Objectives of the Property Tax School:

- Develop an applied understanding of property valuation and appraisal principles.
- Develop a clear understanding and appreciation of proper ethical conduct in the business property tax profession.
- Facilitate the development of a network of professional colleagues to assist each other in solving property tax administration problems.

Registrations must be submitted in advance through the IPT office and are accepted on a first-received basis. There will be a limited number of registrants accepted per company. Enrollment is limited to IPT members or employees of companies who have members in IPT. PLEASE NOTE: If a faxed application received by IPT is accepted (acceptance letters will be sent by June 1, 2009), and the person declines the acceptance, there will be a $100 cancellation penalty imposed. There will also be a substitution fee if someone other than the original applicant attends.

Please click here for the registration form.

Members of the Institute can register online at www.ipt.org by logging in to the "Members Only" section and entering personal IPT login and password.
